

Annual Review

2017–18 highlights

The year of you

Last year was a year to celebrate people giving their time to support our work.

With the support of our Heritage Lottery Funded Natural Futures project, we worked with over 1,200 volunteers. We also worked with groups to develop employability skills and health and well-being. The project was recognised by us being awarded the Investing in Volunteers Quality Standard.

Wellbeing and work experience group with award

Local group Wirral Wildlife was acknowledged for their dedication over many years with a Queen's Award for Voluntary Service. Member Hilary Ash received the Points of Light Award, recognising outstanding volunteers who are making a change in their community and inspiring others.

With extra funding from People's Postcode Lottery and Children in Need, we involved more than 7,000 adults and children in nature-based activities across the region.

We were delighted with a fantastic response to Save our Marvellous Meadows and the appeal to extend our work in the Swettenham Valley. This enabled us to create new space for nature in the Swettenham Valley. Thank you to all our supporters, funders and partners. With your continued support, we look forward to doing even more for local wildlife this year.

Charlotte Harris, Chief Executive

Delamere's Lost Mosses ends on a high

Last year saw the culmination of five year's work by Cheshire Wildlife Trust to make Delamere mosslands a Living Landscape. Working alongside the Forestry Commission, we restored more than 50 'lost' mosses, opening up wildlife corridors and providing new habitats for the many rare species.

Alongside this work we successfully reintroduced the white-faced darter dragonfly. By translocating nymphs from sites in Shropshire and Staffordshire and providing habitat for the emerging dragonflies, we've seen the return of 'Delamere's dragon' for the first time since 2003.

The success of the project was recognised nationally in June 2017, when we were awarded the Chartered Institute of Ecology and Environmental Management Best Practice Award. This award was a fitting culmination to the hours of work staff and volunteers had put in to this project to help make it a success.

Delamere in numbers

1 'dragon' reintroduced

110ha mossland habitat restored

Recovery of sphagnum across 9 sites

Delamere's jumping spider found on 2 new sites.

New recording of rare bog myrtle and green hairstreak butterflies on two restored sites

1,500 volunteer days, equivalent to an additional member of staff for the project

The year in summary:

Making space for nature

More than 178 hectares of new habitat created and restored at Bickley Hall Farm, Delamere, Danes Moss and Holcroft Moss.

5 hectares of hay meadows created through our Pollinating Cheshire project.

More than 6,556 hectares of land protected or enhanced for wildlife through our planning advice.

Helping people to enjoy nature

In 17/18, our 1,266 volunteers gave 9,425 hours of time and skills. Of these, 1,280 hours were spent improving their employment skills and 2,841 hours helping volunteered to help with their health and wellbeing.

7,176 adults and children enjoyed and explored nature in our school and family activities.

Highlights included TV coverage about HS2 on Granada Reports (Oct 2017) and the badger cull on BBC North West (Sep 2017). Our training courses were mentioned in BBC Wildlife magazine (Sep 2017) and we were referenced in a piece on the badger cull in The Times (Aug 2017).

10 work placements and 4 trainees supported. 24 training courses delivered.

More than 575 people took part in 30 Days Wild 2017 – connecting to nature.

44 press releases distributed resulting in 302 mentions in the media for Cheshire Wildlife Trust.

By the end of the year, we grew our social media presence to 4,313 followers on Facebook and 9,515 followers on Twitter.

Work included

10 neighbourhood plans completed

Advice to HS2 and Highways England

400 hectares of land better managed as a result of our work or advice

70 hectares of grassland Local Wildlife Sites surveyed in the Peak Park

Wild at work

Get in touch if you want to get wild at work.

This year we've developed a variety of new and exciting ways of engaging with businesses in the community.

Wild in the workplace

We run wildlife engagement activities in the workplace, introducing staff to the natural wonders outside their office window. From bird, flower and mammal spotting, to bird box making and mini-meadow planting, we offer a host of activities that add real value to the workplace.

"The wildlife experience day was a fantastic way of connecting our staff with our green space in a completely new way. From identifying badger tracks and birdsong, to learning about the habits of our local owls, there was lots to educate and inspire."

Matthew Coates, Executive Director at HW Coates Ltd, Middlewich

"It was a great afternoon, with Cheshire Wildlife Trust and staff members from Cheadle Royal Business Park constructing bird boxes and learning about the wildlife on site. It was a fantastic day with lots of positive feedback from all who attended."

John Close, Park Manager at Cheadle Royal Business Park

Digging for treasure in The Three Hares Challenge

The Three Hares Challenge

For those organisations wanting to try something truly unique, we run a dedicated team-building day like no other. Hosted at Bickley Hall Farm, this immersive experience aims to energise teams, and encourage them to objectively evaluate how they work individually and collectively. Teams need to work together, having their wits about them as they delve into the 'ancient mystery' of the Three Lost Hares of Bickley Hall. Against the backdrop of the rolling hills of South Cheshire, delegates piece together clues whilst encountering a variety of fiendishly clever challenges designed to highlight the different characteristics and strengths within the team.

See www.threehareschallenge.co.uk/ for more information.

Cheadle Park Wildlife Day

Team building

One of our most popular days is in our newly converted Create for Nature workshop, where teams of staff spend the day learning new skills, transforming waste wood into wonderful furniture. We also offer a whole variety of other team-building activities on our reserves around the county. Hedge-laying, bird ringing, orchard planting and even good old-fashioned scrub clearance all provide a fantastic platform for a team to develop while learning new skills with a sense of real purpose. ■
